Our COVID relief work spans across 120 villages and a population of 1,50,000 with ration kits being distributed twice a month and now we have started active assessment of on ground situation by doing telephonic surveys with our 1600 students from 5th class onwards and with all the SHGs associated with us. We at Pardada Pardadi are now planning for the next phase of development in COVID 19 relief work, that is rehabilitation of those who have been affected and we are building up a fund that will help those families re-establish themselves back on their feet.

WARRIOR OF PPES MR PRASHANT

The nationwide lockdown has disrupted all forms of normal living. It has plunged the entire world into a predicament that nobody was prepared for. Along with the rest of the world, the rural communities of India have been greatly affected, none more so than those of Uttar Pradesh of which Anupshahar is one.

Fighting the COVID 19 are the heroes of PARDADA PARDADI EDUCATIONAL SOCIETY.

Mr. Prashant is one of them. He has been associated with PPES for more than 8 years and has emerged as a strong pillar of PPES. He has been actively engaged since the start to mitigate the plethora of issues, problems, and challenges that have been caused by the pandemic lockdown. Because of a lack of communication channels that exist in rural areas that particularly disrupt channels of information, he has taken up the responsibility to maintain communication networks in vulnerable areas for vulnerable communities. Under this engagement, he is overseeing a student-run helpline and providing the initiative both resources and guidance by providing training around language and communication apart from imparting necessary skills like problem identification and articulation.

He says that during COVID 19 lockdown the focus has shifted from education to helping the local community for survival. The work is more towards providing necessities like food, hygiene kits, medical support etc. This is an important cause of concern when we look at the female students that PPES aims to empower via education. Due to the lockdown and disruption of the process and the girls returning to their homes, there is a threat of them falling into the very dismal patriarchal fate that they had been rescued from in the first place. Mr. Prashant is cognisant of issues of mental health and anxiety along with the challenges that arise when trying to change the mindset of rural communities.

Despite these hurdles, however, Mr. Prashant is carrying out active engagements and building more channels of social communication to ensure that the process of growth and empowerment track of the girls continues to point towards a bright future. Battling issues of the pandemic while also battling the challenges of social evils, Mr. Prashant is a leading figure who is respected throughout the community and the organization and continues to be a source of pride for the organization.

Maintaining a positive outlook even during such grave times, he has become a source of inspiration as well and motivates the entire organization into believing that with well guided collective effort we will not only be able to overcome the crisis but also usher in a better than before society as a new dawn.
